

Mr. Stephenson,

I'm a local realtor and I get a lot of interest in Ogden and the surrounding area via the internet. One of the items that keeps coming up is the gondola. I have two clients right now, one from Maryland and one from San Diego, that are moving here because of the potential for growth in this area. Both work in the ski industry.

The word is out that this area is about to boom. I am excited for Ogden-- I have always been a big booster of the area and have actually moved here several times!
If the national ski industry is buzzing about our growth, shouldn't we be as excited?
